Proposed Constitutional Amendments

AMENDMENT A

VOTE NO

Right now, the Utah Constitution says proposed amendments must be printed in newspapers across the state for two months before an election. Amendment A would remove that rule and let the Legislature decide how to tell voters. Their proposed solution? Post amendments on government websites that no one ever visits. We can do better than that.

Vote No to keep your right to know in the Constitution, where politicians can't change it on their own.

AMENDMENT B

VOTE NO

Amendment B would make citizen ballot initiatives that deal with taxes get 60% of the vote to pass, but the wording leaves a lot to interpretation by lawmakers.. Under this rule, Utah's 2018 votes to expand Medicaid and legalize medical cannabis would have failed. It means voters have to play by harder rules than lawmakers, who could still raise taxes with a 50% vote. Stop this power grab by politicians, lobbyists, and special interests.

Vote No to protect the Constitution and the people's power to make laws that help our families and communities.
